

BULLDOG BANTER

The Dogs are pleased that their trip to Yarmouth is over and behind them. League leading Yarmouth Marines showed no mercy last week-end, out scoring the Bulldogs by a score of 17-0 in the 2 games played on Friday and Saturday. The League leading Mariners were unstoppable and difficult to penetrate on their defensive zone. The Dogs finish the year basically at home, with 7 games remaining 6 of those will be played on Bulldog Turf. A great schedule if the team was in a contending position but unfortunately that will not be the case. For the second time in their 40 year history the Dogs will not make the playoffs. A gallant troop of players and coaches continue to move forward through a very difficult year of hockey. For the most part the spirits are good and they play the game for the right reasons. But there is no doubt the trip to Yarmouth took some wind out of their sails. Coach Cheverie and MacInnis continue to emphasize the most positive aspect of the game. It doesn't take skills and work and the game is still fun by putting an honest effort forward for your teammates.

With Truro in town tonight and Amherst in town Sunday night the Dogs will meet 2 worthy opponents. Truro currently in 2nd place in the Bent Division plays a very disciplined style of hockey under the guidance of Coach Shawn Evans. Arguably the most consistent and respectful organization in the League Coach Evans always ices a competitive hockey club. Amherst, their last trip to town gave the boys a bit of a thumping by a score of 7-1, one would like to think there would be a little bit of revenge there. A young skillful hockey team, the Ramblers are very quick and Coach Corey Crocker will have a very sound group of hockey players returning for next year.

The Dogs are currently selling 200 Club Tickets, and would ask those of you who are interested to pick up one from any Executive Member or at the arena this evening.

Also Sunday the Dogs are honoring local Hockey Player Michelle Long. She has been practicing with the Dogs for the last 5 or 6 weeks and is a member of the Nova Scotia Women's Hockey Team. She will participate in the Nationals in PEI later this winter. As well this evening all young ladies who are currently registered and playing in the Antigonish Minor Hockey System received free admission as long as they wore their Team Jersey. Girls' hockey has developed quite nicely here in Antigonish. The efforts over a couple of decades of hard work. The System has produced some very reputable players. We wish Michelle and her team all the best at the Nationals and for those who came this evening to support Women's Hockey we hope that trend continues.
