

BULLDOG BANTER

The Dogs continued their losing ways last week-end losing at home against Amherst by a 6-1 score on Sunday and going down to defeat Friday evening by a score of 7-0. The Dogs offensive talent pool obviously has been an issue all winter, averaging less than 2 goals a game, they find themselves in a situation where finding the net is becoming almost impossible.

As most teams are winding up for a play-off race the month of February is generally a very competitive month of hockey in the MJHL. The Dogs are tenderly looking for the end with 7 games remaining on the schedule - 6 of them at home their main goal is to stay competitive, have some fun and enjoy the game. The work ethic last Friday evening certainly did not appear that anyone was having fun, but they did play a competitive game on Sunday although the score would not indicate that. The players continue to stick together and are a good group of young men. For them to have the qualities to remain as a team is very special, the unfortunate thing is that they just do not have scoring prowess or the abilities needed to put up offensive numbers.

Tonight the Dogs take on Summerside who are currently battling for the last play-off spot in the Meek Division with the Restigouche Tigers, another big game for them, and on Sunday Miramichi is in town and they too are battling for a play-off spot, but that is the #1 position in the Meek Division and arguably overall.

So as mentioned generally in February the games become more increasingly important and may get much tougher on the Bulldogs.
